Class Descriptions

Welcome and Opening Comments

Victor Martinez, President, Code Enforcement League of Arizona

Interior Housing Inspections

This class will discuss the basics of housing standards, housing inspection protocol, and hazardous materials that could be encountered during housing inspections. A segment of this course will cover effective communication techniques and officer safety, both of which are crucial as code officers interact with those who disagree with housing inspection results.

Dr. Gina Rinder, City of Colorado Springs

Abatement Lien Program

The presentation of this class is based on City of Phoenix's Abatement Lien Program. Discussion will include their processes on abatement and abatement lien recovery. Furthermore, City of Phoenix will discuss their pilot program, their results, lessons learned, and their future strategies.

Patrick Ravenstein, City of Phoenix

Structured Sober Living Homes

The presentation of this class is based on City of Prescott's Structured Sober Home ordinance. Discussion will include their process in identifying sober homes, code compliance issues and creation of an ordinance to oversee the program. This presentation will include the aspects of legal and code compliance.

Wendie Laughlin, City of Prescott

Leadership IMPACT

Based on the Ten Competencies of Outstanding Leadership by Tim Schneider, this program is built on 25 years of research and the best practices of highly successful organizations. The learning cascades and builds a continuous set of useable skills that can be implemented immediately and with lasting results. You will be able to navigate the challenges of becoming a leader, create boundaries and expectations with team members and redirect your focus to leadership functions. Leadership IMPACT provides four statistically accurate and validated competencies in a clear and easy to apply manner. Your leadership success will be enhanced immediately! Includes:

- Leadership Transition
- Understanding Yourself and Others
- Interpersonal Communication
- Team Member Engagement
- Coaching and Feedback
- Self-Mastery

When you embrace the competencies for outstanding leadership and begin to apply them in a meaningful and consistent way, you will be creating a path for your own personal success and the success of your organization.

Tim Schneider, Aegis Learning
